

Some participants used Twitter to advocate on behalf of autistic people. They posted about autistic identity and about terms preferred by autistic people.