

Coping mechanism: Withdrawal

The only coping mechanism autistic participants can deploy to get respite from sensory overload is to step away from social media for a limited time or permanently.

