

Not all participants avoided conflict. For example, you can see that Sam uses social media to correct people and companies. He is not afraid of conflict situations and will often discuss controversial topics with other Twitter users.