

Challenge 4: Sensory overload

Some participants found that on social media there can be too much content, often irrelevant to their interests, too many images, too many videos, too many strong colours.

Some participants found it particular annoying when a video or audio start playing automatically.